

Undergraduate fact sheet 7: English language proficiency

English language proficiency (ELP) is an admission requirement for all tertiary courses; however, most people – including Australian Year 12 students – do not need to prove their proficiency.

The following information refers to requirements for undergraduate courses only. Different requirements may apply for postgraduate courses.

Visit uac.edu.au/undergraduate/admission/elp for individual requirements at each institution.

Qualifications that usually satisfy ELP

If you have an assessable qualification (see below) that was undertaken in English from one of the following countries, you do not have to prove your proficiency in English:

- |                  |                       |  |
|------------------|-----------------------|--|
| ■ American Samoa | ■ Lesotho             | ■ United Kingdom(including Northern Ireland) |
| ■ Australia      | ■ Liberia             | ■ United States of America                       |
| ■ Botswana       | ■ New Zealand         | ■ Zambia   |
| ■ Canada         | ■ Nigeria             | ■ Zimbabwe.                                      |
| ■ Fiji           | ■ Papua New Guinea    |  |
| ■ Ghana          | ■ Singapore           |  |
| ■ Guyana         | ■ Solomon Islands     |  |
| ■ Ireland        | ■ South Africa        |  |
| ■ Jamaica        | ■ Tonga               |  |
| ■ Kenya          | ■ Trinidad and Tobago |  |

Being born in Australia or one of the countries listed above does not automatically pass you for English proficiency. You must also have at least one assessable qualification from one of the countries listed.

What is an assessable qualification?

Assessable qualifications from the countries listed above include:

- senior secondary studies, comparable with the NSW HSC
- one full year of Australian or comparable tertiary studies, including RATE Associate Diploma and Diploma, Associate Degree, Bachelor degree and postgraduate studies
- Australian or comparable non-award studies
- tertiary preparation courses, including the NSW TAFE Tertiary Preparation Certificate (TPC), with a full-time equivalence of one year.

The following qualifications may also be accepted by institutions as satisfying English language proficiency if you were born in and undertook the qualification in one of the countries listed above:

- other post-secondary studies, including Certificate and Advanced Certificate
- Special Tertiary Admissions Test (STAT).

Additional qualifications accepted by each institution

Each institution outlines the qualifications or test results they accept as proof of proficiency in English. These requirements can be found on UAC's website at uac.edu.au/undergraduate/admission/elp. Read these requirements carefully.

What if I believe I can demonstrate my proficiency in English but cannot find the test or qualification on UAC's website?

If you believe you can demonstrate your proficiency in English but your tests or qualifications are not included in the list of general assessable qualifications or an institution's list of additional ELP qualifications, write to the Admissions Office at each institution to which you're applying and include supporting documentation so that the institution can determine whether the test or qualification is acceptable and record that decision against your application.

Do not send this information to UAC – we cannot make decisions about your English proficiency on behalf of institutions.

What if I don't have the required tests or qualifications?

If you need to sit a test to meet an institution's ELP requirements, submit your UAC application first and include details of your proposed test in the English language proficiency question. Provide UAC with a copy of your results as soon as you receive them.

Refer to Undergraduate fact sheet 6: Providing documents.

How do I register for an English proficiency test?

To register for the test, contact the individual test centres directly.

Before you register, check with the institution to make sure it will accept the test results as proof of English language proficiency for the course you want to study.
