Need help paying for tertiary study?

YOU may be eligible for an Equity Scholarship!

There are hundreds of Equity Scholarships available to help students starting uni, or continuing their study, in 2014.

Equity Scholarships help students from a low socio-economic background with the money they need to go to or stay at uni. Allocation of Equity Scholarships is based on financial need rather than academic merit so there is no reason not to apply. The scholarships range in value, from $500 for one-off book bursaries to $25,000 per year for the length of your degree.

UAC provides a centralised application process for participating institutions offering Equity Scholarships including:

- Institution Equity Scholarships (IES) funded by individual institutions, donations or sponsorship
- Commonwealth Scholarships (CS) for Indigenous students funded by the Australian Government.

It’s easy to apply for an Equity Scholarship. Through one simple online application at www.uac.edu.au/equity/, you’ll be considered for all available scholarships – you don’t need to nominate which one. For just 10 minutes of your time, you may be eligible for a scholarship that will help take the financial pressure off you while you study so you can focus on your course.

Applications for Equity Scholarships for 2014 open this Wednesday 7 August.
